PUNARSUTRA

Punarsutra transforms post-consumer fabric waste into meaningful, high-value products.

Rewriting the lifecycle of textiles through design, sustainability, and community-driven craftsmanship.

At Punarsutra, every discarded fabric carries a past—and a possibility. We collect post-consumer textiles and reimagine them into thoughtfully designed products,

Where waste becomes resource and stories are woven anew.

Through this process, we are not just creating products

We are rewriting the journey of fabric from consumption to conscious creation.

Punarsutra is not recycling fabric—we are redesigning its destiny.
By transforming post-consumer textiles into curated products, we shift fabric from an end-of-life material to a beginning of a new story.

We're giving them a second life—woven into beautiful coasters by skilled hands using traditional frame looms.

“Crafted by Hand, Powered by Purpose”

Skilled women artisans upcycle the waste into unique, eco-friendly jewellery pieces.
